

Suspension systems

Pneumatic

This system uses air pressure through an inflated bag to provide spring action when the wheels travel over a bump

Levelling

This system adjusts the height of both the rear and front of the vehicle trim to suit varying vehicle loads

Rubber

This system is fitted to some heavy vehicles as its highly elastic material provides excellent springing qualities

Anti-Dive

This system is designed to resist the downward forces that act on the front of the vehicle during braking